Static mixer FIS MR Plus Type of accessory Mixing nozzle, The safe and approval-compliant installation of injection systems is only guaranteed through the use of optimally matched system components such as the static mixers. In the case of fastening systems with injection mortar, the two components are only mixed and activated when they are pressed out by the mixing helix in the static mixer. The static mixer guarantees an even mixing of the mortar components and thus enables the fischer injection mortar to be used in accordance with the approval. The static mixer closes the cartridge after use. A new static mixer is screwed on before reuse
